GC Council Plans Added Stop Signs

An ordinance establishing a four-way stop at 22nd street and Delmar avenue was approved at Friday night's "continued" meeting of the Granite City council.

The aldermen were unable to complete the agenda at last Monday night's meeting and the carryover session was called. The council also is to meet in a regular session at 8 o'clock tonight.

The 22nd-Delmar intersection currently is controlled with stop signs on 22nd street, and the ordinance authorizes stop signs to be erected on Delmar avenue.

Several other requests were made for ordinances to be prepared for traffic and parking controls.

Stop signs are sought on 25th street at Center street, on Dewey and on Illinois avenue at 28th street, on Raleigh street at 28th street, at West 21st street and Bryan avenue and a four-way stop at Waterman and Stearns avenues.

A no-parking zone on the north side of Leonard avenue for a distance of 30 feet off Wayne avenue was requested, along with a no-parking zone on the south side of Hill avenue from Myrtle to Davis avenue and no-parking for certain hours—5 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. until noon on Saturdays—in front of homes in the 3100 block of Myrtle avenue near the Medical building.

Two Traffic Charges

Charles Cox, 2207 West 24th street, was charged with a traffic signal violation and driving without a license at 1:30 a.m. Saturday at 20th street and Madison avenue.

REPLICA OF KEELBOAT that carried the Lewis and Clark expedition up the Missouri river to the west coast is shown here at ceremony held Friday afternoon at Lewis and Clark Memorial Park to DEPICTING DEPARTURE OF Merriweather Lewis and William Clark on expedition up Missouri river in May 1804, this canoe leaves site of Lewis and Clark Memorial Park near Hartford during commemorative ceremonies Friday afternoon. Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) and State Rep. Ralph Smith of Alton were speakers.

Lewis & Clark Park Fete Attracts 300

Approximately 300 persons attended ceremonies at Lewis and Clark Memorial Park near Hartford Friday afternoon to commemorate the departure in May 1804 of the Lewis and Clark expedition up the Missouri river to the West Coast.

The program was sponsored by the Lewis and Clark Historical Society of America beginning at 2 p.m. and were held outdoors in rain-threatening weather that helped reduce the crowd.

Among the speakers were Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) who told the gathering that "I am glad to cooperate in making this park possible. It is a fitting memorial we hold here today."

State Rep. Ralph Smith (R-Alton) described the memorial park area as a place where people can go to see the river and dream of the past. The Lewis and Clark expedition left on their trip westward from the point where the present five-acre park is located.

To Expand Park
William Lodge, director of the Illinois Division of Parks, told the group that the idea of expanding the park is fast becoming a reality. The state announced recently that one million dollars will be spent to expand the present park to one of more than 500 acres with recreational and concession facilities. Lodge pointed out that steps have been taken to acquire the land necessary to the proposed expansion.

2 GC Scouters Aid Program During National Convention

The nation's largest youth organization, the six-million member Boy Scouts of America, adopted a new, long-range expansion plan at its annual meeting in Chicago over the weekend, and men from this area played an active role in the proceedings.

George T. Wilkins, professor in the College of Education at Southern Illinois University-SW campus and Gene H. Sternberg, general contractor, both of Granite City, helped to work out local applications of the expansion plan known as "Boy-power '76."

At the annual meeting, held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chief Scout Executive Alden G. Barber and Irving Feist, Newark, N. J., the newly-elected president of the Boy Scouts, presented the long-range plan at the Friday morning session. It calls for a considerable increase in membership, a program of financial support to local councils, and is directed toward making Scouting more relevant to the needs of boys of all races, creeds, and economic status.

Wilkins is vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Council and a former president, and Sternberg is an institutional representative to the council and a member of the council finance committee.

In addition to over 80 workshop and special committee sessions, delegates to the National Council annual meeting heard talks by several nationally known public figures.

An objective of the "Boy-power '76" plans is the expansion of service to disadvantaged boys in the inner-city and low opportunity rural areas. To keynote this objective, Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, spoke at the Friday noon luncheon. It was also announced on Friday, that ex-light heavyweight champion of the world, Archie Moore, was joining the Scouts National Staff as community relations specialist. He will operate from his home in San Diego, working with boys in the inner-city.

Illinois Junior Senator, Charles Percy, was principal speaker at the closing banquet Friday evening. Senator Percy, former Boy Scout and active Scout leader spoke on the vital role Scouts must play in the future of America. The Senator was a member of Troop 888 in Chicago and achieved Star Rank. Judge Otto Kernor, ex-governor of Illinois, participated in the long range plan presentation Friday morning.

Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board, International Business Machines, who has been national president of the Boy Scouts for the past four years addressed the annual Scouters appreciation banquet, Thursday evening.

2 Paintings by Local Artist Displayed in SIU-SW Show

Mrs. Barbara Thoeke, who has been studying art at the SIU-SW campus for the past two years, had two of her paintings entered in the 11th annual art fair held at the University last week. They were chosen among the final 20 selections.

Over 200 oil paintings and works of art were entered by the selection of the teachers and instructors. Prof. Rudy O. Pozzatti of Indiana University served as the judge for the displayed works and made the final decision for the top 20.

The two entered by Mrs. Thoeke were entitled, "The Birds," 30 x 40-inches in size and "The Gay Dancer," 40x40-inches.

Earlier this month, Mrs. Thoeke had entered four paintings, the maximum entry, in the Northside Art Association Art Show conducted at River Roads in St. Louis county. Of this number submitted three were accepted. They were "The Birds," "Orange and Orange" and "The Figure." The latter painting was submitted to the art fair held at the University in 1967 and received honorable mention.

Mrs. Thoeke and her husband, William, own and operate the Chain of Rocks Motel and are the parents of three boys, five, seven and nine years old.

Reformed Ex-Convict To Speak at Church

Jack Brown, former criminal who now lectures for schools and civic clubs, from coast to coast, will speak at 7:30 p.m. at First Assembly of God Church, 24th street and Grand avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Brown, a former inmate of Leavenworth, McAllister, Lexington, San Quentin and Alcatraz, spent 17 years in prison, four of which were on death row and three and one-half in solitary confinement. He was a prison mate of Al Capone, "Machine Gun" Kelly, "Birdman" Carl Chessman and other notorious figures.

Now a member of the North Hollywood Assembly of God, Brown was a confirmed alcoholic. He also had a $250 a day habit and "kicked" them both following his conversion to a moral life.

Gov. Pat Brown and now devoted his life to messages particularly to youth, warning of the dangers associated with vice and stimulants. He has been instrumental in leading many people to Christianity, including his parole officer. The public is invited to hear him.

No parade is planned in the Quad-City area this year. At the city hall lawn in Granite City, Sarah Jane McEvers Tent 80, Daughters of Union Veterans, will conduct services where a memorial stone was erected by the local tent in past years.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. Boy Scout Troop 21 will post the colors. A quartet from the Granite City high school will sing. Morris Chapman, Granite City attorney, will give the address. Alderman Paul Rutledge will represent the city.

Wreaths will be placed at the memorial stone. Among organizations participating in addition to the DUV will be the GAA; Spanish American War Veterans; American Legion 113 and auxiliary; Gold Star Mothers and Navy Mothers; and auxiliary; the DAV and auxiliary; and Quad-City Amvets Post 51 and auxiliary. Paul Rutledge will represent the city.

State Law Forbids Keeping Wild Animals in Captivity

Spring and early summer is when wildlife nurseries operate at full capacity. The Illinois Department of Conservation receives many requests for information on how to care for "abandoned" wild babies at that time of year.

William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, stated that the best way to care for young rabbits, fawns, baby raccoons or other wild animals is to leave them alone. They have not been "abandoned" by their mothers. It is a violation of the State Game Code to keep wild animals in captivity without the proper permit.

"A human mother might abandon her young intentionally but wild animal mothers don't," Lodge stated. "People see young rabbits running around their yards or they find a nest of baby rabbits in their lawns and when they don't see the mother in attendance, they assume that the young have been deserted. The mother rabbit prefers to feed her young after dark. She seldom visits the nest during the day. Baby rabbits that people adopt don't live long in captivity."

"People who adopt 'abandoned' fawns are not doing the animal or themselves a favor," Lodge said. "Cute, homegrown fawns mature into large deer with no fear of humans. They are dangerous animals! Bucks grow antlers with sharp lines and in the rutting season they have been known to attack people. A few years ago an Illinois farmer was killed by a 'tame' buck he kept in his barn lot. A doe has razor sharp hoofs and can inflict severe wounds by striking with her front feet. After a so-called tame deer has matured its keeper is faced with the problem of what to do with the animal. A deer raised in captivity cannot take care of itself in the wild."

"The biggest favor a human can do for any baby wild animal is to leave it in the woods where it belongs," Lodge concluded.

Illinois in 1818-Gov. Coles Led Fight Against Slavery Proposal

(From the Files of the Granite City Press-Record)

Slave-holding influences had enough strength in the state legislature in 1818 to believe that they could secure an amendment to the constitution, making Illinois a slave state.

A resolution was submitted to the legislature and passed the Senate without great difficulty.

The slavery advocates found they had just enough to pass the resolution in the House, and it was called up. But Nicholas Hansen of Pike county voted in the negative and defeated the proposition.

Hansen had been seated after a contest by John Shaw, with the understanding that he would vote for the slavery resolution.

The slavery advocates were furious, and all parliamentary rules were set aside. The action on the contest was reversed, and John Shaw was seated in place of Hansen, after which the resolution vote was reconsidered and declared adopted.

The triumph of the pro-slavery group was celebrated by a wild and drunken carouse.

Forming themselves into a noisy and disorderly procession, they marched down the streets of Vandalia, the capital at that time, to the residence of Governor Coles, whom they greeted with catcalls, groans, whistles and derisive cheers.

The proposition then went before the people, and such a campaign as the state had never seen was waged. Governor Coles donated the salary of his entire term, $4000, to the contest against the constitutional amendment. He stumped the state and did everything possible with tongue and pen to arouse the people to defeat the resolution.

He was ably assisted by a number of other public men of the time, among them Samuel D. Lockwood, George Forquer, Morris Birkbeck, George Churchill, Thomas Mather and Rev. Thomas Lippitt.

The election was held on Monday, Aug. 2, 1824.

The result of the vote showed 4972 in favor of the resolution and 6640 against, and Illinois remained an anti-slavery state.

No Single Ideal Stock Portfolio

(National Association of Investment Clubs)

Q. Would you suggest a portfolio for a prudent man?

A. I don't suggest individual stocks. Even if I did, it would depend on who the "prudent man" was.

In the copy of "Better Investing" enclosed, you will find a model portfolio for investment clubs (that's a model for an Investment Club, not an ideal for everyone).

Q. A friend of mine has urged me to buy shares in Washington Gas Light. He says I can get 5 1/2% interest and that the price will go up.

I got burnt on the same kind of advice about Tucker a few years ago. I am a retired man and have several thousand dollars to invest.

A. No fireman wants to get burnt twice in the same fire. BUT... your problem is that you have different types of friends.

Percy Outlines Waterway Projects

By U. S. SENATOR CHARLES H. PERCY OF ILLINOIS

As last year, I was happy to present to the Senate Appropriations Public Works Subcommittee once again the case for important water resource projects in Illinois.

"For there is no question that the investments we make in Public Works Water Resources projects will provide handsome returns in protection from floods, as well as water quality improvement, water supply and recreation values," I said in testimony before the subcommittee this month.

Every citizen of Illinois stands to benefit in one way or another from these many projects in the state. They protect the Lincoln River, the Mississippi and Ohio rivers at the very southern end of the state.

In addition to the requests contained in the budget, I asked the subcommittee to add funds for the Lincoln River levee project, which had been delayed from next year's budget. The reservoir would provide water storage for the Embarras River and assure a water supply for the city of Charleston.

The locality around the reservoir site is under active consideration by the U. S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation as a possible national recreation area. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and I have sponsored legislation to create the first project on which a reservoir and a Park Service recreation area were developed at the same time.

"A minimum of funds, not for construction but for land acquisition, will make it possible to carry out the project during these tight budget years," I testified. Last year, $190,000 was allocated for planning.

There are dozens of other projects in Illinois along the Mississippi and in the basins of such rivers as the Rock, the Illinois, the Kaskaskia, Big Muddy and the Ohio that my office is working on in cooperation with Sen. Dirksen and appropriate Illinois Congressmen.

One of the biggest proposed expenditures for next fiscal year—$64 million—is for continued construction of a nine-foot channel on the Kaskaskia running 50 miles between Fayetteville and St. Clair county to where it pours into the Mississippi.

In this area are buried nearly two billion tons of coal which could be more cheaply sters in that area," he added. Mayor Partney said he was to meet with state highway officials on Monday (today) and also was anxious to confer with them to correct the utility pole problem along the south Nameoki road project where new sidewalks are being installed with the poles in the middle of the walkway. "This is a hazard that should have not occurred," the mayor noted.

A resolution was approved for the state department of public works to install an 8 to 10-inch sanitary sewer line under the Route 181 roadway at the Cayuga street alley to serve homes along Union street on the west side of the right-of-way.

At the request of Alderman Robertson, an ordinance is to be prepared restricting the speed of buses to 20 mph throughout Granite City. Robertson said he was continuing to get complaints that speeding buses were causing damage to homes.

"I made the complaint several weeks ago, and the condition still exists," the alderman said.

Under the Police committee report by Alderman Whitmer, a letter from Bi-State Transit Co. was read in which it was stated that a notice had been posted at the bus garage, advising bus drivers of the speed complaint and instructing them to observe speed limits here.

Robertson said the proposed 20 mph limit is to apply to all buses.

The Bi-State Transit also said it would remove the bus zone sign at St. Clair and Wayne avenues which was eliminated by the council. The drivers have been advised to use only authorized bus zones, the Bi-State Transit letter to the Police committee stated.

Alderman Green again called for action to get repairs on road crossings. "The holes are getting deeper and causing more damage," he told the council.

Robertson added that he couldn't understand why the city was unable to get action and called upon the mayor.

Meetings on Crossings

Partney replied that he had conferred with both the Illinois Commerce Commission and with railroad officials only a week earlier and while he hoped repairs would be made, he believed the only method would be legal action to require "railroads to level their roadbeds to street level."

Nonn said the major problems were at crossings of American Steel Foundries and Union Star & Refining Co. If we can't get local firms to do the job, how can we expect the major railroads?" he asked.

In miscellaneous business, the council instructed the street department to replace the missing street name sign for Mercer drive, and the Ardross division of Prairie Farm Dairies, Nidringhaus avenue and Benton street, is to be advised to either place lights on its forklift or to halt the practice of using the forklift to haul items from its warehouse across Nidringhaus avenue in the old Nesco building. Alderman Fry said the operation was creating a traffic hazard at night.

Referred to the Sanitary committee was a request by Minn Man Co. to place 40 to 60 trash receptacles in the downtown business district. The firm would maintain the receptacles, provided the street department would empty them regularly. The company would sell advertising on the containers at $30 per month for each space and would carry liability insurance. The city would be given the containers at the end of two years.

Referred to the Street committee was a request from the law firm of Beatty, Schober & Thies for an easement for St. Elizabeth Hospital to relocate its gasoline and oxygen tanks from its property along the west side of Iowa street to the east side to prepare for start of construction of the new hospital wing.

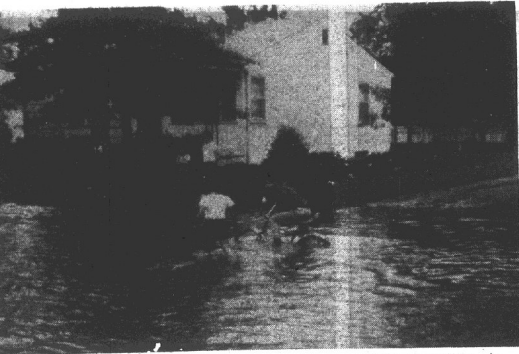

Alderman Boyd, chairman of the council's Air Pollution committee, reported the committee had no recommendation on the City Air Pollution Control

Moerlein added that a number of First Ward residents are gathering data and having tests run on the red dust in the area and have conferred with a law firm for possible legal action against Granite City Steel Co.

Held in abeyance by the appeals board was a request by Louis Branstetter for two feet instead of eight feet for a garage at 2211 Manley avenue.

A special use permit resolution is to be prepared for the Eagles Lodge to build a kitchen and develop a parking lot at 2558-58 Madison avenue adjacent to its building at 26th street and Madison avenue. Lodge officials had requested a C-1 commercial zoning designation for the tract now zoned residential. A house has been razed, and Alderman Rutledge, chairman of the Planning and Zoning committee, said he believed a special use permit would be proper.

Also referred to the City Plan Commission was a request by Anthony Veseli for C-1 commercial zoning for three lots at 2161 Pontoon road—now R-2 residential—to convert the property at the Franklin avenue intersection for professional offices.

Also referred to the Plan Commission was a request by Andrew Gitchell for change in zoning for a tract along Johnson road from the ditch line to the 24th street line. The tract is to be changed to R-5 multiple family dwelling from its R-4 zone classification.

Alderman Green called for condemnation proceedings to be started for vacant property at 2221 Logan street. A resolution is to be prepared to allocate $1039 from sales tax funds to be allocated to clear away debris from a condemned house at 2827 Iowa street that is falling down. The lowest of three bids was from General Contracting Co. It was reported by Alderman Jarrett. Noss asked that $150 sales tax funds be allocated to clear away debris from a house razing project that was abandoned in the 2700 block of Denver street.

It seems to be the scheme of things that as vacation time arrives, many a healthy bank account loses its balance.

Miss Sue Carroll Becomes Bride of Carl R. Wrolen

Arrangements of pink gladioli and white pom poms provided the setting at the Namecki United Methodist Church Saturday for the wedding of Miss Sue Carroll, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carroll, 3264 Rodgers avenue, and Carl R. Wrolen, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wrolen, reside at 1610 Spruce street.

White satin bows marked the pews as lighted candelabra, attended by Paul and David Dineff, illuminated the altar and aisle. Rev. William Fester, officiated at the 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Janet Young, organist, for Frank Carroll Jr., the bride's brother, who sang, "Wedding Prayer" and The Lord's Prayer.

Mr. Carroll escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage.

She chose a full length gown of organza and lace designed with a fitted bodice and featuring a Sabrina neckline and traditional long sleeves. The front of the bridal gown was trimmed with lace similar to that of the detachable lace train which fell gently into a Chapel train.

Her fairy princess veil, elbow length, was secured with a forward headpiece of petals formed of lace and organza. She carried a triangular cascaded bouquet of white roses with lemon leaf greenery and long white satin streamers.

Miss Ellen Chapman was maid of honor, while Miss Cheryl Weston, Miss Elaine Gunderson and Miss Linda Bell were bridesmaids.

They were attired alike in floor length gowns, the honor attendant in a deep rose and the bridesmaids in pink, of Karate and satin. The fitted lace bodice had a portrait neckline and the long A-line skirt was fashioned of Karate. A softly flowing train in the back was trimmed with Karate and satin.

Bows in matching color held in place their short nose tip circular veils, and their flowers were nosegays of light and dark pink carnations.

Little Ruth Ann Miller, a niece of the groom, was the flower girl and wore a short frock of pink dacton dotted swiss. She carried a white basket of rose petals. Scott Carroll, a nephew of the bride, served as the ring bearer.

Mr. Wrolen chose Dale Dickey as his best man, and Joey Rojas, Gene Matheny of Obion, Ill., and Lee Battaglott of Murphysboro, Ill., were groomsmen. James Simpson and Craig Nyers acted the guests.

Miss Pat Young presided over the guest book at the reception which followed the ceremony held in the church basement for wedding guests.

Mrs. Carroll, mother of the bride, selected a coat dress of Aqua blue textured silk with embroidered lace trim and

Poison Ivy

If you are sensitive to poison ivy, get ready to go to war! Poison ivy is so common in nearby woods and roadsides it seems to be nearly everywhere. It can show up in your backyard among your ground cover vines or on the fence. Identifying poison ivy seems simple. Each leaf has three leaflets, and the plant grows as a vine. Usually the leaflets are smooth, but you may find plants with toothed or lobed leaves. The vines are usually along the ground, but little bushes and hairy vines on trees can be the same plant.

Control is simple! Spray the leaves with Amtritol! This chemical is ideal for poison ivy because of the plant's ability to absorb the chemical and carries it to the root. When you see the sprayed foliage turn white, you know the chemical is doing the job.

Amtritol is not to particular about plants which will be sprayed. Amtritol and the powder are available at garden stores.

If you are sensitive and do the spraying, wear gloves, immediately change clothes and remove every trace of the poison with soapy water.

If you are having trouble with identification, write or call our office, U. of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, in Belleville 233-1047 (Edwardsville 656-7700) for a free copy of U. of Illinois circular 525, "Controlling Poison Ivy."

Let's Pick a Bug Killer

When you get mad at insects in your garden, then malathion or carbaryl can do the job.

But the best one to use will depend on the situation. Malathion does not last very long, but does a great job when you can hit the insects. Aphids, scale and leaf hoppers are sucking ducks when malathion is used, and you carefully wet the entire plant. The fast disappearance of malathion is discouraging if you need all-summer control, but home vegetable gardeners are delighted because most vegetables can be picked and eaten after a week. (Lettuce cannot be picked until two weeks after spraying.)

Carbaryl is the best choice when insects are eating the leaves and when new visitors can fly into your garden from nearby trees and grass. Web worms, tent caterpillars and leaf hoppers are sitting pigeons for carbaryl. Flower beetles are delighted with the longer effect of carbaryl, but vegetable growers have to wait two weeks to pick some leafy crops like lettuce and kale.

When bagworms, mimosa webworms and cabbage worms are the problem, either one will help you clean up the problem. For more details on insect control on flowers, gardens and fruit trees, ask for circular 900, "Insect Control by the Home Owner," by writing or calling our office, University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service in Belleville 233-1047 (Edwardsville 656-7700).

Sycamore Blight Strikes

Sycamore blight strikes against Blackened clusters of leaves throughout the tree are positive indications blight is severe.

Spring rains spread this fungus from dead twigs to nearby leaves to produce blighted leaves and wilted shoots. Several years of injury will gradually destroy the beauty and service of the native tree.

Disease control seems simple. Spray the tree with organic mercury just as the buds show green and keep the tree well fertilized.

So far this story is simple! But a 90 foot sycamore isn't very simple to spray. During some years a second spray application is necessary when the rainy weather in late April requires a second organic mercury spray about two weeks after the dormant spray.

Careful spray coverage is important to wet the dead twigs as well as the developing leaves.

Extra fertilizer will help maintain good growth. Double applications of lawn fertilizer under the spread of the limbs each spring and fall will help the tree to overcome the effects of the disease.

Elm Leaf Beetle
Elm trees have their share of trouble including plenty of injury from elm leaf beetles.

Brown leaves in mid summer and dark colored worms are typical of this pest. Two generations of the insect occur each year.

Both American Elm and Chinese Elm are attacked, but Chinese Elm are more severely damaged.

If you want more shade and beauty, and less elm beetles, then control calls for a single

Dandelions

Dandelions can be easily knocked out with one spray of 2,4-D amine. An extra bonus will be control of several other species of broadleaf weeds too.

Chemical canes, combination fertilizers and weed killers and weed bars all contain the same chemical compound. Convenience for you has resulted in this variety of methods of application.

When economy has just as much appeal, then local garden stores can help knock out these weeds by using 2,4-D amine and a knapsack sprayer. Each package will give you directions for mixing.

If clover, ground ivy or knot weed is also present, then a combination of 2,4-D and dicamba is your best choice for a one-shot application. Banded-D and Weedout Super D are two garden store products which contain the mixture.

Spillage drift is always a problem when using these chemicals. Early spring use will help you reduce the injury to gardeners. Quiet days, low pressure

East Seal Day Camp For Area June 17-28

The annual two-week Easter Seal Day Camp for handicapped children of the Quad City area will be held Monday through Friday, June 17-28, at Monticello College. It was announced today. Camp will start promptly at 8:30 a.m. and close at 2:30 p.m. each day.

The program is made possible through joint efforts of the Easter Seal Society of Southern Illinois, Alton Junior Service League and the Easter Seal auxiliary.

A well-oriented staff of instructors under direction of Gus Catanzaro, camp director, and Mrs. Mary Hays, program director, will conduct the activities. A life guard and registered nurse will be in attendance each day. Adult supervision will be provided by Junior Service League members and the Oblate Sisters of Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Teen counselors also assist in the program. Food for the Day Camp will be planned and served by church groups and civic organizations under supervision of the Auxiliary of the Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois. The Parent Council is assisting in camp preparations.

The activity for physically or speech handicapped children of the area is for youngsters from 4 through 12 years. Each camper is required to have a physical examination by his personal physician prior to entering camp.

Children eligible for the Easter Seal Day Camp may obtain application and medical forms for camp from the Easter Seal Treatment Center, Sixth and Alby streets, Alton; phone 462-8887.

The camp provides handicapped children with the opportunity to experience the pleasures of the out-of-doors and to explore the wonders of nature. Activities will include creative drama, swimming, music and singing, arts and crafts and special surprise events.

Employment of Handicapped At Depot 15% of Work Force

Federal employment practices, relating to physically handicapped and mentally retarded persons, especially those working in various capacities at the Granite City Army Depot, were reviewed by Col. Charles E. Hoskin III, Depot commanding officer, who was principal speaker Thursday evening at the annual dinner meeting of Specialized Services, Inc.

About 200 persons in attendance at the Roundtable restaurant, Collinsville, also heard brief remarks by Dr. Charles P. Juevenille and Dr. Don Kimbrell of the Illinois Department of Mental Health.

Joseph L. Budde, Specialized Services executive director, reported recent acquisition of the Hungarian Hall in Granite City, bringing the number of facilities now operated by the organization to seven.

Program to be Expanded
"Through this generous donation by the Granite City Hungarian Home Association, we hope to expand our program and services in the Tri-City area," the director said. He also noted a $2000 donation from the Alton Foundation to renovate the building and expressed appreciation to Vernon F. Marti of A. O. Smith Corp., who arranged use of fork-lift equipment.

New officers, recently elected by Specialized Services' governing board, who were introduced by Budde, included: C. Dana Eastman, chairman; Louis Keller, first vice-chairman; C. O. Thomas, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Thelma Hausauf, secretary; and Chris Johnson, treasurer.

Edward L. Stone of Granite City and Lloyd Jerome Martin of Godfrey were recognized as new board members. The executive director reported formal application by Macopin county to enter Specialized Services' rehabilitation and workshop program.

Recommending their inclusion in the Madras-St. Clair counties program, Budde noted a $6000 grant to help establish a workshop training center has been offered by the Macopin County Mental Deficiencies Council. Action on the petition will be taken at the group's July meeting, the director said.

Meeting Community Needs
Describing what he called "the human story of the Granite City Army Depot," Col. Hoskin said, "We in the federal sector and especially at the Depot, take pride in our response to the challenge of the many varied needs of our community, our neighboring cities and our country."

"We have accepted the challenge . . . not only of the war in Vietnam . . . but we are responding to the wars at home . . . wars against the crime in the streets . . . poverty . . . and urban decay."

"Wars to help the physically handicapped . . . the mental retardates . . . wars to erase bigotry and unfair employment practices because of race, sex, religion or national origin . . . and wars to relieve hard-core unemployment."

The military officer continued, "These wars we, in the federal sector, have recognized as blemishes on the American scene and we have pledged to contribute our most aggressive energies to win."

New Role for Military
"This new role of the military and civilian sector of our federal government really is one of response to the aims and objectives of the administration and response to the needs of the responsibility . . . the heretofore unknown role of the military . . . that of being, in some measure, an instrument of social change. It took me an extremely short time to recognize, contrary to my first assumption about this added responsibility, that I was not engaged in charity programs, but simply in 'good business.'"

The Depot commander cited an example . . . "When we first hired the mentally retarded, some viewed our actions as an exercise in social responsibility. Happily, the accomplishment of their simple routine jobs these people have proved to be more satisfactory than the highly qualified who often are restless and dissatisfied in work which contains little challenge."

Disorderly Conduct
J. W. Hayes, 45, of 1501 Edwardsville road, was arrested Sunday evening at 20th street and Park avenue on a charge of disorderly conduct.

License Lost or Stolen
Wilma Amshury, 2138 Dewey avenue, reported at 9:30 p.m. Friday that her driver's license was lost or stolen.

MORE ABOUT State Approves

tested in two years, apparently is proving effective.

To Check System
Board members instructed the technical staff to check the system and to obtain data necessary to compliance with state air pollution control regulations. The complaint against Fox Bros. was based primarily on the fact the firm has not filed a letter of intent and a pollution reduction program with the state.

During the board's afternoon session, Dr. Johnson Pearson of the board's technical staff recommended the state adopt regulations providing an annual mean average concentration of 0.03 parts of sulphur dioxide to every million parts of air.

Sulphur Dioxide pollution is considered one of the most severe health hazards of all categories of air pollutants and results primarily from the burning of sulphur bearing fuels such as coal or fuel oil.

The limitation considered by the Illinois state board is about one-third less stringent than the 0.02 part per million regulation adopted in Missouri under the Interstate Air Pollution Control Study of two years ago. Missouri air pollution control officials sought a similar standard in Illinois, but the state refused to go along with the stricter standard for numerous reasons.

Involves Coal Industry

Most of the controversy over the sulphur dioxide standard grows out of the use of coal. Illinois has little coal available with low sulphur content and strict standards would go a long way toward crippling the Illinois coal industry.

Pearson told the board here Thursday that no means for reaching the tentative Illinois sulphur dioxide goal have yet been developed and said the state will take several months before we can make such recommendations to the board.

At the same time he told the board that tests which were run in the Madison-St. Clair county area last December and in January of this year showed the annual sulphur dioxide concentration to be nearly almost double the goal recommended for adoption.

Klassen told the board during its afternoon session Thursday that the state board "has pretty firm information" that by July 1 the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare will designate two regional airsheds in Illinois that will be affected by federal legislation. He said one of these involves the Madison-St. Clair county area and the other the Chicago area.

U. S. To Act

Klassen said he understands the U. S. department intends to recommend standards for emissions of pollutants in the airsheds and standards of ambient air quality to be achieved. He explained the states then will have 90 days in which to file a letter of intent to adopt and enforce standards acceptable to the U. S. department.

The state then would have six months in which to reach agreement with federal authorities. If no agreement resulted, the U. S. department then would impose its standards, he said.

Rabies Inoculation Clinic Set Tomorrow

A rabies inoculation clinic will be held tomorrow from 7 until 9 p.m. in the Granite City Animal Shelter on Route 3, according to Terry May, Granite City Humane Officer.

Drs. L. H. Holt and L. O. Tadlock, veterinarians, will administer the inoculations at a fee of $3 for each pet. May said 1968 city dog licenses will be available at the same time, at a fee of $1 for male dogs and $2 for females.

Parking Violation

James L. Sparks, 1511 Second street, Madison, was arrested by Madison police at 5 a.m. yesterday on a charge of parking in a prohibited zone in the 100 block of State street. Sparks posted bond pending a June 5 hearing.

Summer Care of Raspberries

Black and purple raspberries can be made to grow bushy instead of having long spindly canes. Now is the time to begin this growth change.

As the new shoots reach a height of 24 to 30 inches, pinch or cut off the growing point. You can use your thumb and forefinger or a knife to do this job. Twice after the pinching a week apart will usually be below the cut area and the plant will grow outward more than upward.

Anthracnose is a yearly problem for black varieties. It causes gray spots on the canes and the brown, seedy condition on the berries. Control is by a preventative spray program of ferbam or zineb and sanitation. This means the removal and burning of dead fruiting canes after harvest.

Red raspberries do not require any special care at this time. However, they can be kept under a spray program for control of mid-summer leaf diseases.

Cucumber Beetles
The insects that attack young cucumber, squash and melon plants so hungrily are usually either the spotted or striped cucumber beetles. The exact identification is easy but not important. Both kinds of insects have similar life history and feeding habits.

In addition to the visible feeding that these pests do, they can also carry bacterial wilt and mosaic diseases and the larvae feed on the plant roots.

Control of these pests by spraying or dusting is not too difficult. Use either carbaryl (sevin) or malathion on a weekly schedule as soon as the seedlings emerge.

Better Lettuce
Leaf lettuce is the easiest kind of lettuce to grow in the garden. If it was seeded early, harvest should now be in full swing. For best yields, keep the plants growing vigorously with plenty of water.

Dedication of Worthen Park is Postponed

Ceremonies for dedication of the new Worthen Park installed by the Granite City park district, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today, have been postponed for one week because of weather popular each year. Some of the leading varieties are Bibb, Buttercrunch and Matchless. These varieties can be used as leaf lettuce, but they excel as small heads ideal for salads.

The secret of success for the Bibb and Butterhead type of lettuce is plenty of space, fertility and water. Plants should be six inches apart in the row for optimum growth. Harvest can begin as soon as the heads begin to form.

conditions, Barry Loman, park board president, announced today.

Loman said the program will be held next Monday at 7:30 p.m. on the newly lighted softball diamond at the park. The park is named for Milton Worthen, a member of the park district board for 47 years.

Park officers and commissioners will attend and the public is invited. Invitations have been extended to all friends of Worthen and special guests are to include Mayor Donald Parmer, Howard Kaseberg, Chamber of Commerce president, and Worthen's immediate family.

Worthen Park is on Maryville road at Parkview school.

Home Notes

By Mrs. Catherine R. Mauck, Madison County Home Adviser, Home Economics Extension of University of Illinois.

Tips on Storing Woolens

Clothes moths and carpet beetles are looking forward to a summer's feast on improperly cared for woolens. To protect woolens during the warmer months, follow one or more of these suggestions from University of Illinois entomologists:

1. Dry-clean or wash woolens and place them in clean, plastic storage bags or other insect-tight containers.
2. Woolens that are dry-cleaned or washed should be hung in bright sunlight for a full day and brushed thoroughly before storing. Pay particular attention to pocket interiors, cuffs and folds when brushing.

3. If the storage area is not insect-tight (as is true of most closets, trunks and boxes), vacuum the area thoroughly and spray all inside surfaces with either 5% DDT or 0.5% lindane, applied from a pressurized spray can.

4. Cedar-lined chests are usually insect-free before storing. The cedar oil vapors destroy small larvae, but do not kill larger ones. As added insurance in cedar chests, you can spray the inside surfaces as suggested above or use a fumigant material. Either naphthalene or PDB (paradichlorobenzene) is the fumigant commonly used in moth crystals, flakes or balls. Use at least one pound of crystals, flakes or balls for every 100 cubic feet of space.

5. The clothing itself can be protected by treating in light amount with DDT (5% oil spray or 10% dust) or liberally moistening with a fluoride-base fabric solution. Protection will last a year or more, unless the clothes are washed or dry-cleaned. Caution: Infants' clothing that has been treated should be washed or dry-cleaned before use.

Hot Potato Salad
Potato salad generally is considered a summertime specialty for picnics or potluck suppers. To many Germans, potato salad isn't potato salad unless it's served hot—for lunch with corned beef sandwiches or for dinner with baked ham or spareribs.

Red-skinned potatoes are best for any potato salad because they hold their shape when boiled and sliced. New potatoes are satisfactory.

For optimum food value, cook in their jackets as many of the nutrients are right under the skin. When cooking whole, select potatoes of uniform size so that they all will be done at the same time. Boil in as little water as possible to save the most vitamins.

With the plentiful supply of potatoes, you don't have to be of German descent to try this tangy

German Potato Salad
Combine $\frac{3}{4}$ cup instant mixed onion with $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water; set aside for later use. Sauté $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped celery in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup bacon fat five minutes or until limp. Add softened onion and sauté 3 to 4 minutes. Add 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon black pepper, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup vinegar. Boil 1 to 2 minutes. Add to 6 cups (6 medium) diced hot cooked potatoes along with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and 6 slices crisp bacon, crumbled. Toss lightly and garnish with black olives. Serve hot. Yields 6 to 8 servings.

More Girls
Part of the reason for the sewing explosion is the fact that there are now more females in the United States than ever before. The girl babies born after world war II are now maturing. The experts say that many of them are as budget conscious as they are fashion wise. One recent study indicates that six out of seven teenage girls know how to sew. There are, of course, many reasons why home sewing is growing increasingly popular. Some women consider making clothes a wonderful way to display their originality. Others say it's the only way they can get exactly what they want in a great range of style, fabric and other choices.

Few women say economy is their main reason for sewing. But they do, indeed, save money. More than many realize. The amount of saving, of course, is in direct proportion to the amount of money, time and ability invested.

Proof of this is a statement by an official of a pattern firm that sells adaptations of high-priced Paris and New York originals. He estimates that a woman who spends $10 a yard for fabric makes a garment

Assistant Extension Adviser

Insect Problems

Bugs! Bugs! We seem to go from one insect problem to another. The cool spring weather has helped farmers by slowing alfalfa weevil development. The same is not the case with the corn flea beetle.

In last week's column I mentioned that flea beetle would probably not be a serious problem. This may no longer be the case. The cool rainy March-like weather has brought corn growth to a near standstill. It has made the flea beetle more of a problem than was anticipated.

Flea beetles are damaging some fields of corn in Madison county. Newly emerging corn should be watched for the presence of small shiny black beetles that jump readily when disturbed and leave white scratch marks on the leaves. If damage is severe and plants are being killed, apply $\frac{1}{4}$ pound of carbaryl (Sevin) or $1\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of toxaphene per acre as a band over the row.

To avoid a possible milk-residue problem toxaphene should not be used on dairy farms.

If grassy areas in fence rows, road sides, or ditch banks border a field, also spray these areas with Sevin to prevent additional flea beetles from moving into the corn.

Do not use carbaryl (Sevin) in the vicinity of bee hives. Do not use toxaphene near fish-bearing waters.

Safe Procedures

Roscoe Randall, extension entomologist, of the University of Illinois, has developed a list of safe-handling procedures for using insecticides.

Anyone using insecticides will want to keep these procedures in mind.

He suggests these safe-handling procedures:

—When opening and pouring from insecticide containers, stand so the wind blows the material away from you.

—Do not smoke while handling or using insecticides.

—Leave unused insecticides in their original containers with the labels on them.

—Store insecticides out of reach of children, animals and irresponsible persons, preferably in a locked building.

—Wash out and bury, burn or haul to the refuse dump all empty insecticide containers.

—Do not put the water supply hose directly into the spray nozzle.

—Do not blow clogged nozzles or spray lines with your mouth.

—Wash exposed parts of the body and clothes contaminated by insecticides with soap and water.

—Observe all precautions listed on the label.

—Know your insecticides and the precautions for using it before you start using the material.

Alfalfa Weevil

Steve Moore, extension entomologist from the University of Illinois, was a recent visitor in Madison county. Steve and his fellow extension entomologists spent a good deal of their time during the production season traveling throughout the state.

Steve was particularly concerned with checking the population of alfalfa weevil, army worms and corn flea beetles.

We made numerous stops in Pin Oak and Alhambra townships checking corn, wheat and alfalfa fields.

The numbers of alfalfa weevil are high in most fields. From 20 to 60% of the plants show signs of feeding. Fortunately the cool spring weather has slowed down the development of the weevil. The 15-24 inch alfalfa plants can better withstand the weevil population than smaller plants.

The best bet now is to harvest rather than treat the infested fields. Many of the plants were entering the early bud stage and we found one field that was starting to bloom. Remember, digestibility and alfalfa quality decreases rapidly after the bud stage.

Both from a weevil and quality standpoint alfalfa harvest should not be delayed beyond the bud stage.

We're not out of the woods yet as our alfalfa weevil problem. When the alfalfa plant is cut and starts to wilt the weevils will move onto the stubble. This stubble will not support the high population of weevils found in most Madison county fields.

After cutting keep a close eye on the stubble. If it doesn't "green-up" in a few days treatment will be necessary. Malathion, Malathion with methoxychlor, or diazinon with methoxychlor will all give good results. Ten gallons of water will be enough for good coverage on stubble.

The alfalfa weevil has a summer dormancy period and should not be a problem after early June.

US Fund Transfer to Aid Outdoor Program

Prospects for increased outdoor recreation activities and facilities have been brightened by passage in the House of Representatives at Washington of legislation authorizing the transfer of government revenues from offshore leases and royalties of mineral rights to the Land and Water Conservation Fund, according to Cong. Melvin Price, (D-East St. Louis).

Cong. Price noted the shifting of these funds will result in an additional $200 million annually for funding outdoor recreation programs. A strong supporter of the bill, Price said "It is imperative that we find a new source of revenue for these vitally important undertakings."

Pointing out that the bill neither raised taxes nor increased overall federal spending, Cong. Price singled out several Illinois area projects which fall under provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund. He cited the recently funded Cahokia Community Park and the Frank Holten State Park in St. Clair county and the Tri-Township Park at Troy in Madison county as examples of projects coming under the scope of the program which the Illinois Department of Conservation administers.

Grants Clear Way For Development At Parks Airport

Federal and state grants will make possible a $66,800 development project at Bi-State Parks Airport operated by the Bi-State Development Agency in Cahokia, commissioners of the Bi-State board were informed in regular meeting Thursday afternoon by Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., executive director of the agency.

Col. Smyser said an allocation of $23,400 by the Federal Aviation Agency has cleared the way for extension of the airport's present east-west runway to a 5000-foot runway early next year. The runway eventually will be extended to 7000 feet to accommodate executive jets and twin-engine aircraft.

The federal allocation will be supplemented by a state grant of $194,861 and payment of $89,538 Bi-State as its share of the cost.

Arch Train Budget

The commissioners also approved a new budget for the Gateway Arch transportation system, effective at the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1. The budget estimates 1968-69 income at $617,000 gross, $115,000 more than set up as potential income during the current fiscal year that ends June 30.

The Bi-State Transit system reported April revenue of $1,750,337, leaving a net operating revenue of $28,031. Funds requirements under the trust indenture, however, totaled $272,000, leaving an April deficiency of $243,969. This brings to $876,399 the total cumulative cash deficiency in depreciation reserve as of April 30.

Jr. Volunteer Classes Set at Alton Hospital

Orienteers classes for Junior Volunteers at Alton State Hospital have been scheduled June 13 and June 20 and students 16 years of age have been invited to participate in the program.

To be eligible for Junior Volunteers, a person must be 16 years old, have a "C" or higher average in school, be able to provide his own transportation and be willing to give three hours of service each week. Mrs. Marjorie Dintelman, volunteer services co-ordinator, pointed out that service as a volunteer is an invaluable way of learning more about careers in mental health, as well as being helpful to the handicapped. Volunteer work under direct staff supervision and assist in numerous therapy programs.

Volunteers have served in the Medical-Surgical Unit and in the Youth Program during the past school year, helping feed the elderly, reading and writing letters, and have assisted the children with craft projects, as well as in numerous other areas.

We've been getting ready for you for 10 years

We at Illinois Power have had our eyes on you for a long time. As your neighbors, we've watched you grow. Some of us gave you a hand in Scouting, Little League or Junior Achievement. And all of us have been getting ready for you to serve you with something your generation is going to need in king-size quantities—energy.

Ten years ago we set out to double our capacity, just to get ready for you. While you've been hitting the books, we've been building power plants and pipelines.

And today we're ready.

It's taken more than $375 million to do the job. Yet, our electric rates have been lowered consistently over the years.

However big your dreams about living and working, we guarantee you'll have all the low-cost energy you'll ever need to make them a reality. We think you've got a very bright future. And now we've got to get ready for the Class of '78.

Then, nothing Illinois' 150th year as a state.
is available at your Illinois Power office.
It's true. Just ask.

IT'S OUR BUSINESS TO SERVE YOU BETTER

GC Park Summer Program to be At 10 Centers
The Granite City park district will operate ten recreational centers throughout the city for an eight-week period this summer, including a new center at Washington school, Park Supt. Harold Brown announced today.

Hundreds of Granite City youngsters are expected to register for the summer recreational program at 9 a.m. Monday, June 10, with activities to get into full swing on Tuesday, June 11. Children are to register at the center nearest their own home, Brown said.

Those eligible to participate are youngsters who will enter second grade this fall through sixth grade pupils. Daily sessions will be held from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 2 p.m.

Locations of Centers
Centers will be located this year at:

Logan, Marshall, McKinley, Parkview, Niedringhaus, Namooki, Webster, Wilson and Washington grade schools, the Salvation Army Center at 1421 Nineteenth street, and in the park district community center at 822 Niedringhaus avenue.

Varied activities planned include arts and crafts, free movies, games, picnics, Junior Olympic Games, free recreational swims, singing, storytelling and excursions to such places as the St. Louis Zoo and Grant's Farm.

There will be a playground league for girls and boys' ball and each week a special event will be featured at the individual playground centers, including pet shows, bicycle rodeos, scavenger hunts or marble tournaments.

No charge will be made for participation in the summer program for children residing within the Granite City park district boundaries, the park official said. He pointed out, however, an exception to the no-charge rule would be for expenses incurred on special educational outings such as those to the St. Louis Zoo.

$1 Insurance Fee
Brown also reminded parents that each youngster is required to pay a $1 insurance fee, which will provide up to $1000 for doctor and medical service, and $1000 for death or dismemberment for participants in any park program, with the exception of wrestling, gymnastics and baseball in the park district baseball leagues.

Coverage under the $1 insurance plan will continue until June 1, 1969, Brown said, also protecting the child in winter park-sponsored programs.
